

FREE ONE-PAGER

The 12 Interrupts

Stop the Scroll in 0.8 Seconds - The One-Pager

DONE-FOR-YOU OPTION

Or Skip Straight to Results

This page teaches the method free. Prefer it done for you instead? Email denorgerald@gmail.com - same offer, no prompt-pasting required.

Email denorgerald@gmail.com to apply

Every viral hook does one of three things to the brain: breaks reality · shouts louder than the feed · opens a loop it must close

The 12 categories below cover all three. Learn these, and you'll never stare at a blank prompt again.

THE 12 CATEGORIES (and the one-liner to remember)

| # | Category                       | The Interrupt                                      | One-Liner                                       |
|---|--------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| 1 | Gravity &amp; Physics   | Float, fall, rise, zero-G, ground opens            | "The brain assumes gravity. Break it."          |
| 2 | Scale &amp; Proportion  | Giant, shrink/grow, extreme zoom, miniature        | "Scale is relative - exaggerate the reference." |
| 3 | Time Manipulation       | Freeze, reverse, slow-mo, time-lapse, loop         | "You control the viewer's clock."               |
| 4 | Glitch &amp; Corruption | Glitch, pixel dissolve, VHS, melt, data-mosh       | "Broken is an attention signal."                |
| 5 | Material &amp; Texture  | Sand, water, smoke, paper, glass, clay             | "What is it made of? Change that."              |
| 6 | Mirror &amp; Symmetry   | Infinite mirror, reflection mismatch, kaleidoscope | "The reflection is the self. Violate it."       |

| #  | Category                        | The Interrupt                                     | One-Liner                               |
|----|---------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| 7  | Impossible Objects       | Door/portal, out-of-place, Escher, living objects | "Juxtaposition is the hook."            |
| 8  | Body &amp; Anatomy       | Extra limbs, head swap, elastic, detached parts   | "The human form is the strongest hook." |
| 9  | Camera &amp; Perspective | Whip-pan, dutch angle, dolly zoom, fourth wall    | "The camera is an invisible character." |
| 10 | Emotion Subversion       | Bait & switch, mask crack, unexpected reaction    | "Prediction-error is the hook."         |
| 11 | Light &amp; Color        | Selective color, neon, silhouette, inversion      | "Contrast is a signal."                 |
| 12 | Typography &amp; Text    | Kinetic slam, shatter, text-in-world, morph       | "Text is a visual, not just a message." |

DONE-FOR-YOU OPTION

12 Categories Memorized. Now What?

Knowing the taxonomy is step one. Running it consistently, on schedule, is the part most creators drop - that's the gap done-for-you management closes.

Email denorgerald@gmail.com to apply

THE 3-PART FORMULA (the only rule you need)

Every pattern interrupt works because it follows:

Pattern Interrupt (0–0.8s) → Identity Signal (0.8–1.5s) → Open Loop (1.5–3s)

1. Interrupt - break reality or shout, instantly.
2. Identity - make the viewer feel "this is about me."
3. Open loop - leave an unanswered question so they stay.

THE AI PROMPT FORMULA (6 parts)

Reference The AI Prompt Formula

1. CAMERA & FRAME - locked camera, 9:16 vertical, no unwanted motion
2. SUBJECT & ACTION - who/what, doing what
3. EFFECT / MECHANISM - the named interrupt, as physical behavior
4. ENVIRONMENT - background, light, mood
5. STYLE / MEDIUM - photoreal / 3D / paper / clay / VHS
6. NEGATIVE PROMPT - the failure modes to exclude

The golden rule: state the interrupt as a verb + direction, not a vibe. Write "the water flows upward into the glass" - never "surreal water."

---

THE 20-SECOND NEGATIVE PROMPT (save this)

Reference The 20-Second Negative Prompt

frozen limbs, rigid pose, standing, walking normally, floating upright, normal physics, ground contact, strings, wires, visible hands, extra limbs, distorted anatomy, wrong number of fingers, blurry subject, jump cuts, broken motion, hard cuts, camera shake, text, watermark, logo, play button

---

WHICH ONE DO I USE TODAY?

Ask yourself three questions:

1. What should the viewer FEEL? (awe → gravity/scale · unease → mirror/body · energy → camera/glitch)
2. Does it need to work on mute? (if yes → typography/text)
3. Am I selling, teaching, or storytelling? (selling → light/color · teaching → time/scale · storytelling → emotion/impossible)

The interrupt serves the emotion. Not the other way around.

---

Want the full library? Each of the 12 categories has a deep-dive guide with 15-25 ready-to-paste AI prompts, a negative-prompt cheat sheet, and the psychology behind every technique.

Get the Complete System: [GUMROAD LINK HERE]

Prefer to skip execution entirely? We also offer done-for-you social media management - we apply the INTERRUPT method to your handles directly, end to end. Email denorgerald@gmail.com to ask.